

LIVE FREE

A photograph of a stone archway leading to a balcony with a view of the ocean. The text "LIVE FREE" is overlaid in white, bold, sans-serif font. The scene is dimly lit, with sunlight streaming in from the balcony, creating a strong shadow on the floor. The balcony has a black metal railing, and the ocean is visible in the background.

When people
you serve
struggle
spiritually, do
you take that
as a personal
offense, or are
you genuinely concerned?

When you experience illness or injury, do you view it as a setback or find new ways to spread the gospel?

Do you look down on other believers who exhibit more suffering than success?

Would "being willing to pluck out your own eyes and give them" describe the depth of your friendships in the church?

A close-up photograph of an ancient, multi-branched menorah (candelabrum) made of metal, likely silver or gold. The menorah is positioned in the background, with its branches extending across the frame. In the foreground, there are several pieces of aged, yellowed parchment or paper with Hebrew text written in black ink. The text is arranged in lines and appears to be a religious or historical document. The lighting is dramatic, highlighting the textures of the metal and the parchment. An orange horizontal bar is located in the top left corner of the image.
