

By "reformed" we mean that we seek to proclaim in doctrine and life both the sovereignty of God and the responsibility of man as expressed in the Bible. "The Reformed Christian is especially distinguished by his respect for the sovereignty of God—his persuasion that all things and all times are in God's hands, to determine, to initiate, to accomplish and to conclude according to His sovereign will." (Presbyterian Journal, May 2, 1979, page 14.) The reformed Christian also believes that God's sovereign will is fulfilled through the thoughts, words, and deeds of men, and he is therefore responsible to God in every aspect of his life.
