

C.A.R.E. Group Questions 3/29/20

1. Why is the everlasting lovingkindness of God so central to a correct understanding of Christ's sacrifice and the gospel?
2. "For He is good" is such a simple statement, and yet it also communicates an amazing truth about God? How and why is that concept so misunderstood by the world and church alike?
3. How does the idea of Christ singing of His own suffering and deliverance make you feel as you read it in 2020? Is it something that we should consider more often?
4. In what ways is the Lord our "strength," "song," and "salvation?" What do these qualities look like when they are displayed in the life of a believer?
5. Despite Scriptures like Psalm 118, we still fall into discontentment and frustration quite often. How can being grounded in the Word help us in that battle? What practical things are you doing right now to do so?
